27th September, 1960.

Dear Jim

Your letter came whilst I was on a rather long holiday on the Continent and I am only just now able to answer it. It is delightful to hear from you again and I am looking forward with some hope to the possibility of coming to the States again within the next year, and I shall certainly come down to see you if I may.

With regard to your friend Bill I. Wiley, I will certainly pass on the information which you gave me to people whom I think would be interested and, I imagine, only to glad to take advantage of his visit in the way you suggest.

With very warmest regards to you both,

Yours ever
